During our learning, we will:

- Identify on a timeline when this event happened.
- Order the events that led up to the fire starting and what happened after the fire had started.
- Make comaprisons between a fire enegeine then and a fire engine now.
- Infer what difference it would have made to this event if at this time we had the fire engienes that we have today.
- Look at an extract of Samuel Peeps diary to explore thoughts, feelings and order of events.
- Summerise our learning in a news paper report.

Prior Learning:

In Reception I learnt that:

- The past means that the event has already happened.
- London is a capital city in England.

In Year 1, we learnt that Guy Fawkes tried to blow up the Houses of Parliament in London in 1605. (This happened just before The Great Fire of London).

Future Learning:

In Year 6, I will look at this event in comparison to WWII and identify how much time had past between these two significant events.
